BUILDING SUSTAINABLE GROWTH-ORIENTED MINORITY BUSINESSES

The NMSDC Kellogg Advanced Management Executive Program is designed to provide certified, established, growth-oriented minority-owned business owners with the tools and skills needed to achieve and sustain accelerated growth in the constantly changing business environment. The leading-edge, four-day immersive program provides minority entrepreneurs the opportunity to work “on” their business in a interactive environment instructed by educators and professionals with real-world experiences.

Going beyond the MBA curriculum, this program examines proven best practices to address common entrepreneurial issues in the context of today’s business environment. Business owners network and learn together while developing lasting business relationships.

Program Objectives

• Develop a growth-oriented strategy that identifies and charts profitable new business opportunities.
• Strengthen negotiation skills through team exercises.
• Learn strategies for defending brand.
• Improve leadership and management skills and implement a company and self-assessment process.
• Develop an organizational capability plan to support growth objectives.
• Understand the latest socioeconomic, corporate and public policy trends and their impact on business prospects and strategies.
• Form valuable working relationships with other successful minority executives.
• Obtain first-hand knowledge from a corporate senior executive and their views on supplier diversity engagement.

Dr. James H. Lowry and then President of NMSDC, Dr. Harriet Michel, created the dynamic Advance Management Executive Program in 1996 to grow competitive minority-owned business with sizable scale and capacity to handle corporate America’s supply chain needs and opportunities.

Utilizing their joint skillsets in working with and encouraging corporations and minority business focused supplier diversity programs, the two founders understood that the skills that got minority business to level of success would need to be further enhanced to grow and be sustainable for the future.
